Faculty Cultural Events Committee Sponsors & Plans Lectures for SSU

Kate Spinner
Flyer Staff Writer

This spring, a series of lectures will "examine nature's effect on the artist and the resulting work as well as the artistic response to pressing environmental conditions," as stated in the Art, Culture, Nature schedule of events. The lecture series theme, Art, Culture, Nature, ties in well with the newly declared Environmental Studies Minor. Since last Semester the Faculty Cultural Arts Committee has been working to organize events that will promote environmental awareness and artistic appreciation.

Andy Hepburn, Communication Arts faculty advisor for the Environmental Studies Minor, has helped bring in some theater productions and discussions that "address themes like ecological exploitation and dehumanization," he said

"Environmental themes in theater is only part of the picture," said Hepburn, "photography, sculpture, dance, music, and painting artists are brought together with people who study the scientific environment. Artists and scientists are able to discuss ways to integrate the arts and environmental awareness into the school curriculum."

Teachers often encourage or expect students to attend cultural events on campus. For this reason, the Faculty Cultural Events committee always works in conjunction with one or more faculty members who can use the programs to supplement in class learning. Ideas for programming accumulate from student suggestions or "literally from conversations in the parking lot, or dinner conversations," said Dave Ganoie, director of the University Center.

Once a theme is established, faculty members and students help put the program together. Last Thursday, the committee met to discuss cultural events for programming beyond the Spring of 1996. They need to begin programming coordination far in advance so that teachers will be able to structure their class schedules to utilize the programs.

Although "student input in the past has been spotty," Ganoie said, students are encouraged to participate in the Faculty Cultural Events Committee. Interested students should see Ganoie. "I'll put them to work tomorrow," said Ganoie, "It's that simple."

Some highlights for this week include, "Soprano Kishna Davis and tenor Eric Greene form the Juilliard School of music, performing Sunday, March 5 at 2 p.m. in the Wicomico Room. Britannia Hospital, a satire on British hospital care, will be shown as a part of the International Film Series in the Devilbiss Auditorium Monday, March 6 at 7 p.m. The Secret Garden, a "Tony Award-winning family musical dealing with growth rebirth and the healing powers of nature," as stated in the schedule of events, will be performed in the Holloway Hall Auditorium on March 10-12, 15-19. ### North Meets South

Yoav Wachsman
Flyer Staff Writer

English prime minister, John Major, will meet this week with Protestant and Catholic leaders from North Ireland in an attempt to hammer out a peace agreement between the two sides. The two sides have been feuding since 1969 when Great Britain invaded the six provinces of North Ireland and helped the Protestants living there break away from the predominantly Catholic Republic of Ireland. Ever since the British invasions, the two sides have been engaging in terrorist activities. To date, the fighting has caused the death of 3,000 people, mainly civilians who became victims of random terrorist acts.

Major agreed to allow the Republic of Ireland to participate in the government of Northern Ireland. In exchange, Major is demanding that the Republic forge their constitutional demands to incorporate North Ireland back into the Republic. Although the majority of Protestants view the deal as a sellout to the Catholic, they agreed to at least send delegates to meet. At the time being, the two sides consented to a temporary cease fire until they could establish a more permanent peace agreement. But even after the cease fire went into effect, a number of people were reportedly attacked by "punishment squads," extreme militant groups who oppose any reconciliations.

Soldiers Of Peace

A group of more than 20,000 students from Afghanistan decided to promote peace in their war-torn nation by riding across the country and demanding that the various warlords give up their weapons and join the peace negotiations. The group, that calls itself Taliban, had stolen approximately 200 tanks and a sizable assortment of weapons. Though it is still not clear how the group emerged or to where it is traveling, the group is gaining support from the common people and from the different mujeheddin factions, military groups who fought together against the Soviet Union.

Talibans are attempting to bring a three-year-old civil war to an end. So far, not one of the different Afghan warlords has attempted to confront the group, and many of them gave up their arms and joined the Taliban. Afghan President Burhanuddin Rabbani proposed that the Taliban join the interim governing council. However, the Taliban announced that they will not join the council until it represents Muslim from all geographic cross sections of the country.

The Tobacco Industry Might Be Going Up In Smoke

This week Florida became the fourth state to sue the tobacco industry for health care costs it had to pay because of smoke-related illnesses such as lung cancer and strokes. Florida is demanding $1.4 billion dollars from the industry that has successfully fought approximately 3,000 law suits against it. Florida was able to sue the industry after a judge in New Orleans allowed states to calculate, through the Center for Disease Control, the costs it incurred from smoking and demand compensations for it. The judge also allowed people to file suits against the industry under a class action umbrella.

Law suits against the tobacco industry have been unsuccessful so far because most jurors believe that people who decide to smoke must carry the economic burdens that result from their decision. However, now that the states are permitted to sue the industry for damage, the tobacco industry might go up in smoke.

A Return to Isolationism

The House has passed a bill that forces the president to consult with congress before he sends US soldiers on UN peace-keeping missions. The bill will also cut the amount of money the US allocates to the UN by 25% and will refinance Reagan's plan to build a defense system against intercontinental missiles.

Dole, the majority leader in senate, stated that the bill is aimed at "Curbing UN operations which are currently out of control." President Clinton, on the other hand, claimed that the new legislation infringes on his constitutional right to decide on foreign affairs. Currently there are 7,000 American soldiers on peace-keeping missions in Haiti, former Yugoslavia, Georgia and the Middle East.

Students Seek Increased Cable

Kevin Kohler
Flyer Staff Writer

"At least it's on the table now," said SGA Junior Senator Patrick Sullivan, with a tone of optimism expressing his view on the issue of campus television.

Last semester, Patrick was one of several students who wondered why more channels were not a part of SSU's cable offerings. However, while many students were content in continuing to wonder, Patrick was not. He decided to take it a step farther. Make that several steps farther.

Starting with Dave Gutoskey, his resident director, Sullivan began voicing his concerns to anyone who would listen.

"I had these wild ideas; I wanted to start petitions," said Sullivan.

Gutoskey pointed Sullivan to director of telecommunications and work experience John Morris. Semester exams came up, and Sullivan let the matter drop. That is, until he saw his opportunity.

"Instead of complaining, I wanted to do something about it. So I decided to see if I could get on the SGA. I found out quickly that positions were available," said Sullivan.

Last semester, Jason Modzeleski, program manager of SSU TV, had provided Sullivan with a list of what was available as of the last time students voiced their cable preferences — a long time ago. "There was a whole lot of stuff we could get but weren't getting," Sullivan said.

Sullivan quickly made a name for himself as he began to work to make his vision of better, more diverse cable offerings a reality. Before the first SGA meeting February 5, he introduced himself to Cindy Cornish in television services, in an effort to find out what stations could be received on SSU's campus.

"I had to fight through it. They had to realize that I was serious," said Sullivan.

Cornish informed Sullivan of the possibilities offered by SSU's satellite.

"I went ahead and, using my own discretion, made up a survey to get the ball rolling," Sullivan said. Sullivan submitted the survey and met with Cornish and Morris.

Morris explained that SSU gets its stations from a mixture of regular airwave signals, cable and satellite feeds. There is only one cable company serving the area around SSU - Comcast Cable.

"Originally, students would contract with Comcast on their own - this was six or seven years back, before cable-ready T.V.s," said Morris. At that time, one student might subscribe to the service and allow several more to use splitters to bring the signal to their own rooms for free. "Of course, that was and is an illegal practice. So we had people threatening to sue. It was a mess."

Thanks to SSU

I graduated from Salisbury State this past December with a degree in Biology and Environmental/Marine Science through the dual-degree program. It is now just the middle of February and I have secured the exact position that I have desired for years at an environmental firm in Ellicott City. That's not bad for walking into the job market just a month and a half ago.

I cannot help but give a tremendous amount of credit to my entire college experience at Salisbury. I feel that the professors, labs, and classes in general have given me an educational background that is not just adequate but impressive to potential employers. My numerous leadership opportunities have helped to chisel my resume into a representation of myself that proved desirable to employers.

As for advice (since everyone there is using college to get a "real job", right?) I would recommend that summers be used for experience in your field of interest, getting involved on a leadership level in a club you really enjoy, and have your resume primed by mid-senior year.

Thanks a lot to everyone that I have learned from, worked, partied, or paddled with during my 4.5 years at Salisbury State.

Sincerely,

Michael "Maddog" Baker

The Green Piece - Cleaning House

Christina Melander
Flyer Staff Writer

Nobody really likes to clean; it's dirty, smelly, time-consuming and basically just an activity that no one enjoys. Those of you who live on campus do not have to worry about household chores right now, but you will someday. However, the majority of Salisbury's student body resides off-campus, and although their living quarters may not be spic and span, everyone has to clean a bathtub or kitchen sink at some point. With spring right around the corner, I would like to warn you of the hazards of traditional spring cleaning.

Clean, Pledge and Drano are standard household items. We have all been exposed to them and witnessed their effectiveness. But have you ever wondered what these agents release into the air besides noxious fumes? What is it that makes these cleansers so powerful?

The major culprit is chlorine. This element is present in many cleaners because it disinfects very well, but at what cost? Two weeks ago, I wrote about the use of perchloroethylene in the dry cleaning industry and mentioned that perc is an organochloride. It's not the only one; organochlorides are formed when chlorine combines with carbon and hydrogen. Not only are these compounds toxic, they can bioaccumulate in the fatty tissues of animals, including humans. If they do take up residence, they can confuse the hormonal signals which regulate biological development. Despite these facts, chemical compounds are still widely used to perform many household cleaning tasks. Chemical companies generate germ paranoia among consumers to sell what would technically be classified as waste. Elemental chlorine, a lethal, pale-green gas, is the foundation of many mass-produced cleaning agents.* This gas is actually the exhaust of another industrial process. Government regulations are lax because they are influenced by big business and they are hesitant to ban products if a large market exists.

Obviously, we want to keep our living space relatively clean, but you don't need to use industrial leftovers to make your bathrooms and kitchens sparkle. Fortunately there are alternatives to harsh, chemically formulated cleansers. Homemade solutions have many benefits: they are cheap, do not have nauseating odors, cut down on wasteful packaging and are better for your health. You only need a few basics to create your own concoctions: baking soda (absorbs odors and deodorizes), borax (disinfects, deodorizes & prevents mold), washing soda (cuts through grease) and some other ingredients which are mainstays in most households.

To make an all purpose spray cleaner comparable to Fantastic, mix:

- 1 tsp. borax
- 1/2 tsp. washing soda
- 2 Tbsp. vinegar or lemon juice
- 1/4 tsp. liquid soap
- 2 c. very hot tap water

Pour into a spray bottle and you have a convenient cleaner ready to use anytime.**To scour pots and pans, simply use salt and baking soda mixed with water to form a paste.*

A simple fabric-softening option is to add 1/4 cup baking soda or 1 cup vinegar to the final rinse cycle of your wash.*

If you are not into the do-it-yourself thing, there are many natural products on the market which can be found at health food stores or ordered through the mail. Some cleaners such as Kitchen Safe Product, Citra-Solv, and Envirocare household cleaning and detergent products are available at nationwide grocery stores and Walmarts. 2-22, a safe, industrial strength, all purpose cleaner suited to clean walls, counters, appliances, etc. can easily be obtained through the mail from American Corridor. Just call 1-800-6403-222 to order a starter kit, including a sponge for $3.99.*

So maybe cleaning isn't one of your major concerns as a college student, but we are all consumers and need to start thinking about the future some time. Spread the word, tell your family at home about green substitutes to toxic cleaners, stop buying products that contain CHLOR-anything—except sodium chloride (table salt). Take responsibility to improve your health and the state of the environment and to reduce the strain on your wallet.

SSU Faces Budget & Personnel Cuts

Jim Hudson
Flyer Staff Writer

A bill currently being debated in the Maryland General Assembly could possibly save 13 PIN positions from the axe of budget cuts.

A PIN position is a Maryland State employee who receives full benefits. SSU is allocated a limited number of PIN positions from which they staff the university.

House Bill 710, the "Governor's Management Flexibility Bill" would allow University of Maryland System (UMS) schools to determine the number of PIN employees it will hire.

Under the current system, UMS Regents can dictate where funds will be cut.

If HB 710 passes the General Assembly SSU President Tom Bellavance would have the power to keep the 13 positions and take the money out of other areas.

According to Frank J. Komenda, UMS associate vice chancellor for state relations, the bill was heard by a House of Delegates committee.

Komenda said he expects the bill will fare well when it comes to the floor of the House.

A senate committee hearing on the bill is scheduled for March 8.

According to information released by the Student Government Association, UMS is looking at an overall loss of $24 million.

SSU is facing cuts of $640 to $670 thousand. In addition, the 13 PIN positions (valued at approximately $210,000) are at stake.

UMS Student Representative Joe Smith said at the SGA General Assembly of February 19 that the bill would give more freedom to universities to choose where their priorities are.

SGA President Sean Mahoney added that the bill would "put more equity back into the System."

Historically, SSU has been low on the priority list of state appropriations.

Of the 11 UMS schools, SSU is last in taxpayer support dollars per full-time student. In fiscal year '93, the university received $3692.

The top three schools were College Park at $8294, St. Mary's at $7154, and Morgan at $6878.

Not surprisingly, these three schools had the lowest student to personnel ratios while SSU had the highest in the System.

SSU has already faced large cuts over the past four years. State appropriations in fiscal year '94 were 12.28 percent below the fiscal year '90 level.

Governor Parris Glendening does call for an increase in state appropriations to SSU in 1996, but the increase is only 1.1 percent.

Although the legislature increased the budget for higher education by 6 million dollars over last year, the UMS system must implement increases in Cost of Living Allowances (COLA).

These COLA increases, which are mainly in the form of pay raises, will cost approximately $30 million, effectively cancelling out the $6 million budget increase.

Students Hunt for Jobs

Dorothy Juchniewicz
Flyer Staff Writer

Around 70 companies and organizations converged in the Wicomico Room and throughout the Guerrieri University Center on Thursday, February 23 from noon till 4pm. The employers were all looking for people to hire full-time, for the summer or as an intern.

The employers varied from hospitals to the United States Army. Other booths held information on a trucking company, the Internal Revenue Service and a correctional facility.

Three universities had booths there. The University of Delaware was looking for candidates for its master's degree and doctoral degree programs. The University of Baltimore was offering its graduate programs, and Frostburg State University was offering Graduate Assistantships.

Mostly juniors and seniors attended this fair, which is helpful both to the student and the perspective employer.

Deena Schrauder, a representative from Maryland General Hospital describes what a job fair can do, "It helps us [the employers] find candidates, but it also help people in their awareness [of the job market]."

Two New Record Stores Open in Salisbury

by Steve Stoken
Flyer staff writer

Two new record stores have opened in Salisbury, Twist Here Music and Flipside Records.

Twist Here Music has opened in the back of the R-World clothing shop next to University Tire on Rte. 13. The store carries mostly underground rock and roll, independent label, rave and alternative music. Owner Chet Cornman, who opened the shop in January, hopes it will attract music listeners of different ages.

The idea behind Twist Here, says Cornman, is to become an outlet for various kinds of hard-to-find music, independent and imported records and to become a magnet for local bands. Cornman likes the idea of his shop because he thinks great music is produced underground.

Cornman also thinks that people who listen to these bands find their material difficult to find in corporate stores such as Sam Goody or Waxie Maxies.

Even when a listener can find minor label music at these stores, it is always overpriced, according to Cornman. Twist Here keeps prices low.

On the other side of Dogwood Drive in the Allenwood Shopping Center is another store which has recently opened. Flipside Records, which is owned by George Ramcharan, offers a limited amount of alternative music but is huge on house, hip-hop and rap styles. Flipside even offers rock, country, reggae and gospel selections, and like Twist Here, it carries vinyl, cassettes and CD's.

Flipside will soon be playing music videos in their store. They will also have a DJ booth in the shop for local disc jockeys to come and play their sounds at no charge.

Flipside will hold an open house in March, but the date has not yet been set.

Cornman and Ramcharan agree that the Eastern Shore has not been the best market for a lot of the tunes they carry, mainly because no one else offers them. They hope to change that. Whatever one store may not be able to get, the other one will. If something isn't in stock, the store will be more than happy to order it for you.

Besides music, the two shops carry music related books and videos. Twist Here has a variety of comics, fanzines and t-shirts. Flipside also carries fresh incense and has a dazzling aquarium for your browsing pleasure.

Together, these stores look to offer the music listener what ever it is they're after and at the same time look to help boost the local music scene.

For those of you into vinyl, hard to find music or recording, these new shops are waiting for you.

resources. How much money can you or your family devote to studying abroad? You should not assume that you can earn money while you study; it is not legal for foreign students to work in many countries.

There are three main places where you can look for help:

a) Federal or state financial aid is the largest source of funding available to U.S. college students. Federal and state aid is divided into three different categories:

- Grants and scholarships, which do not need to be repaid.
- Work-study funds, which partially pay your salary for certain jobs.
- Educational loans, which can be obtained without a credit rating and usually do not have to be repaid until you graduate.

Check with your financial aid office to determine what state aid programs are available at your institution. It will be legal to apply your aid to study abroad as long as it has been approved for credit by your home institution.

b) Institutional, private and other types of governmental aid for education include funds that come from veteran's benefits, vocational-rehabilitation benefits, institutional aid awarded by universities, as well as private aid which you can use wherever you go to school.

c) Unfortunately, there is no huge source of private

Petteway Performs Acoustic Guitar

MaryBeth Vanston
Flyer Staff Writer

Acoustic guitarist Al Petteway, part of SSU's Art, Culture and Nature Series this spring, will be appearing in concert on Wednesday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Petteway draws from the music myth of Celtic heritage as well as his strong roots in American music to create an easily recognized guitar sound—a style that is melodic, technically impressive and appealing to everyone regardless of age or musical preference. According to Acoustic Guitar Magazine, a Petteway concert features "clean articulate playing, rich, bright guitar sound and concise, clean arrangements similar to John Renbourn's better work."

Named Washington, D.C.'s "Musician of the Year" in 1993, Petteway's album "Whispering Stones" was judged "Best Recording" in 1992. His "Waters of the Wild" album was described by The Washington Post as, "a joy to hear from start to finish."

"Waters of the Wild" is a tribute to the creeks and waterways of the mid-Atlantic region of the United States. The album features his trademark guitar sound, both solo and accompanied by other instrumentalists on 16 original compositions.

The concert is in the Wicomico Room of the Guerrieri University Center and free and open to the public.

On March 5 at 2 p.m., soprano Kishna Davis and baritone Eric Greene, from the Juilliard School of Music will be featured performers in SSU's Sunday Afternoon Music Series.

Davis, a native of Columbia, Maryland and currently a Master of Music candidate at Juilliard, has had solo performances with the Baltimore Symphony, Chicago Sinfonietta in the Canary Islands, Bonn Orchestra at Beethovenfest in Bonn Germany and in the White House for Ronald Reagan.

The Baltimore Sun described her voice as "juicy and lyrical", and the Denver Post described her voice as a "big rich soprano...pouring heartfelt tone..."

Greene, a recipient of the Grande Foundation and Higley scholarship, is presently a third-year student at Juilliard. The Baltimore Sun's reviewer Kenneth Meltzer wrote, "His voice, particularly in the middle register, possesses a silken beauty that immediately captivates his audience." In 1993, Greene was awarded the Rosa Ponselle young artist bronze medal.

These two young artists will perform in the Wicomico Room of the Guerrieri University Center with a reception following. This concert is also free and open to the public.

scholarships available for undergraduate study abroad. The majority of the private funding is restricted to graduate or post-graduate. Still, there are a few for which you can apply, but you should do it a year in advance to be safe.

Rotary International is the best-known service organization that has a yearly competition for students. The National Security Educational Program also provides scholarships for students who study abroad.

Now that you know what your possibilities are, you should check with your study abroad and financial aid offices to see if you may qualify for federal, state or institutional aid. Begin early, look carefully and remember that you will only get funding if you ask.

Remember, the wealth of benefits that you will gain by studying overseas and the wonderful way you will broaden your personal horizons will always be one of your best assets. Good luck and have a great experience abroad!

find candidates, but it also help people in their awareness [of the job market]."

By coming to job fairs the hospital hopes to get its name in the forefront in nursing as well as other positions involving business.

Some employers were looking for specific majors such as accounting, biology and business. The companies looking for these majors were mostly health companies, businesses and banks.

The majority of employers were accepting all majors for the various positions. Some internships or summer jobs may evolve into full-time jobs.

For example, the Coca-cola Company was offering 10-12 positions in the beginning of the summer and if openings happen at the end of the summer, full-time could be a possibility according to Emily Satterwhite of Coca-cola. As a matter of fact, a Salisbury State University graduate is now employed in the accounting department.

A job fair helps students get a head start in a time when the rate of employment for college graduates is known for not being extremely high. Another job fair is scheduled for later on in this semester

There was one point where the Movie Channel was even offered, but only until those in charge found out how expensive it was.

Presently, cable stations vary in cost from as little as 15 cents to several dollars per outlet. An outlet is the hookup through which each individual room receives its television signals.

There are approximately 1,040 outlets on campus which would be multiplied times an eight or nine month pay period to figure out how much adding a single channel would cost the university. For example, if the school ordered the hypothetical "reading channel" which costs 32 cents, the overall cost to the university would increase by approximately $3,000 per year.

Also involved is the science fiction club on campus, Startnet, that works to bring science-fiction programming to the campus. The club feels it has run into "an entrenched bureaucracy," so it encourages students to "bombard housing with letters."

With a new survey in the works, Sullivan will be meeting with resident director Gutoskey in hopes that resident assistants will distribute them during floor meetings.

"We still have a long way to go. But hopefully we're getting there," said Sullivan.

Generation X Sex Practices

Marco Buscaglia
College Press Service

Tell your mom and dad not to worry. Not all young adults are the sex-crazed pleasure seekers they see on the "Oprah" and "Donahue" talk shows.

In fact, sexual promiscuity among Americans between the ages of 18-30 has actually decreased in the past decade, according to University of Chicago researchers.

Their landmark report, the National Health and Social Life Survey, is billed as the most comprehensive survey of sexual behavior and debunks many notions of whom is doing what with whom. The 752-page report was based on seven years worth of data from 90-minute, face to face interviews with 3,432 randomly selected Americans between the ages of 18-59.

According to the report, young adults value fidelity, have one sex partner at a time and plan to marry by the time they're 30.

But morality and ethics have little to do with the decline in sexual partners among members of Generation X, said Dr. Robert Libby, a former University of George human sexuality professor who lectures college students on sex in the 1990's. Instead, the fear of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases has slowed the sexual revolution.

"The scare of AIDS has caused a lot of people to pull back," said Libby. "It's no longer a question of religious beliefs. It's just practical concerns about safety."

While today's young adults are losing their virginity earlier than their parents did, it's only by about six months. The average age for white females and males to first have intercourse is 17.5 years. Average African-American males start having sex just before the age of 16, while African-American females begin at 16.5 years.

When giving reasons for first having intercourse, only 25 percent of the men said it was out of affection for their partner. This is probably not good news for the 48 percent of women who said the same thing.

Four percent of the men and 3 percent of the women attributed their first sexual encounter to peer pressure; 51 percent of the men and 24 percent of the women said it was out of curiosity; and 12 percent of the men and 3 percent of the women said it was because of physical pleasure.

Only one percent of the men surveyed said they lost their virginity because they were under the influence of alcohol. Zero percent of the women said the same.

However, while Americans between the ages of 18 and 30, like their parents and grandparents, remain committed to the idea of staying true to one partner, the way they go about it has changed, said the study's authors.

Young adults are more likely to live with a partner before marriage, while their partners were more likely to marry. Two-thirds of young adults reported their first live-in partnership did not involve marriage, while only 15 percent of men and sex percent of women in their 50s said they lived together with a sex partner.

By contrast, more than half of women in their 50s were married by the time they were 20 years old, compared to only one-fifth of those in their 20s.

"They go through a much longer period before deciding about such issues as career and final residence," Laumann recently told the Chicago Tribune.

The survey also showed that the divorce rate among young Americans for marriages lasting less than 10 years was almost two times higher than the divorce rate of their parents and grandparents.

Yet, according to the study, Americans are mostly monogamous, as more than seven out of 10 people said they disapprove of extramarital affairs. Single young Americans

Annual Philosophy Symposium this Weekend

John Duffy
Flyer Staff Writer

The Salisbury State University Philosophical Society will hold its sixteenth annual Philosophical Symposium this Saturday, March 4th. Also assisting are the SGA, Appropriations Board, Honors Student Association and The Fulton School of Liberal Arts.

The day's topic for discussion will be "Is capitalism moral?" Several noted lecturers will debate the issue from different perspectives. Past symposiums have featured topics such as abortion, the existence of God, the ethics of war, and feminism/gender roles.

"For all its positive features, such as the prosperity it brings and the emphasis on individual responsibility, capitalism also seems to a negative side, such as excessive materialism and the increasing gap between the rich and poor," commented

Dr. Grace Clement, a philosophy professor here at SSU. Such topics and others will be discussed by the panel at the symposium.

"Most of the discussion will center around the philosophical principles behind capitalism, not the economic principles..." stated Dr. Jerome Miller of the philosophy department.

Dr. Robert Benne, Jordan-Trexler Professor of Religion and Philosophy at Roanoke College and the author of "The Ethic of Democratic Capitalism: A Moral Reassessment," will be defending capitalism. He has written many other books and articles in ethics and public policy.

Dr. John Langan S.J., Rose Kennedy Professor of Christian Ethics at Georgetown University, will take the opposing view. He has published a book entitled "Ethics, Trust, and Professions," and has written and taught in the areas of medical and professional ethics and just war theory.

The program begins at 9:15 am with a program by the aforementioned guest lecturers. The afternoon session features responses from SSU faculty members and alumni: Benjamin Greene (economics), Michael O'Loughlin (political science), and Tim Sakemiller, an SSU alumni and a Salisbury City Councilman.

An open discussion will conclude the symposium. Continental breakfast and lunch will be served to all those attending. The event is free and open to the public, and will take place in Caruthers Hall auditorium.

by Roger & Salem Salloom

My mom and I have a next door neighbor who does not like the cold weather.

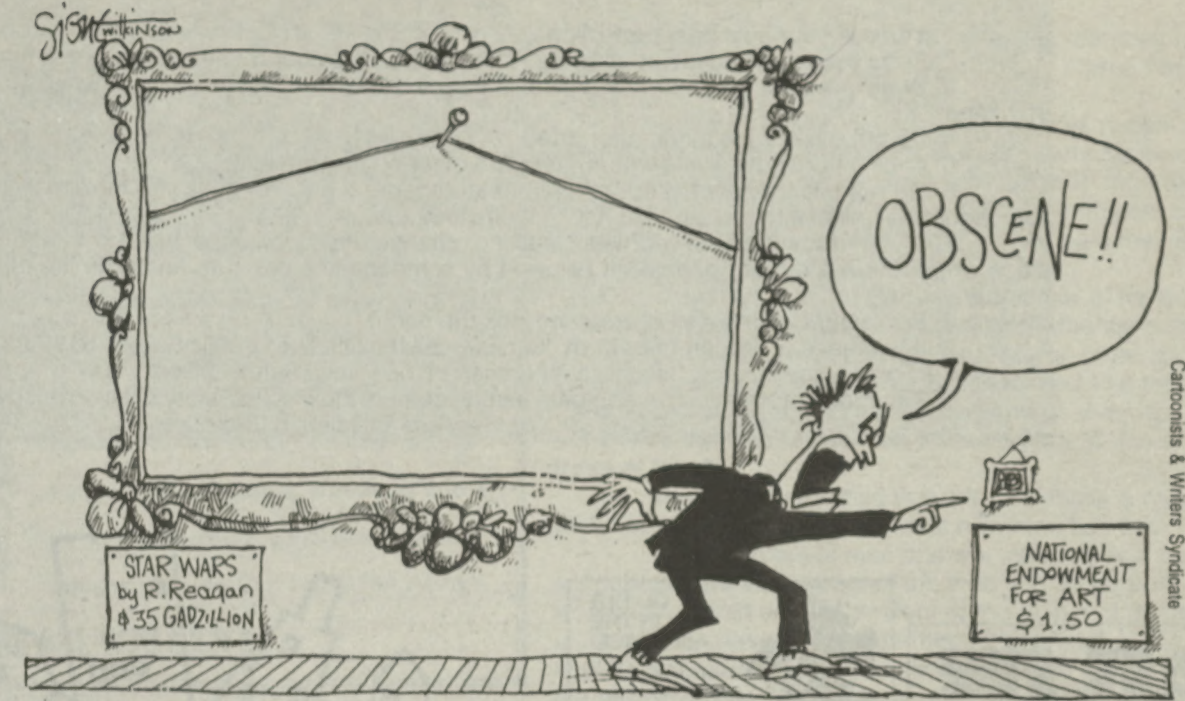

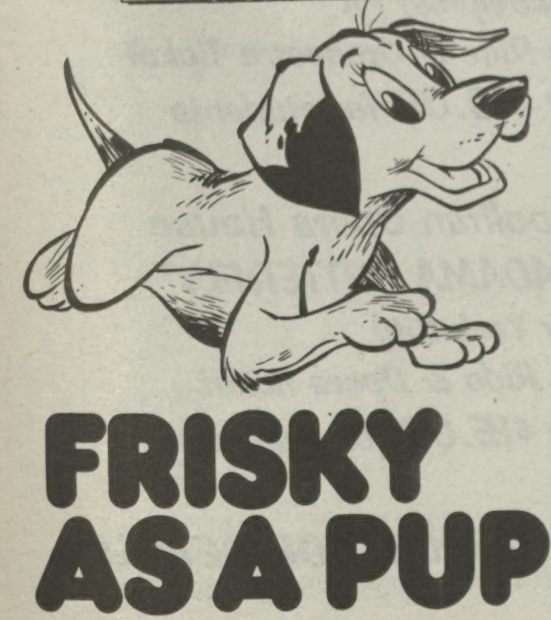

He says he's going to tie a snow shovel to the roof of his car and head due south on the highway.

When someone asks him, "What's that thing on your car?" That's where he'll settle down.

He says that there's actually live seasons...

PERSONAL SAFETY TIPS

The Office of Public Safety has compiled these personal safety tips for use on campus, as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever one resides. These precautions may help to lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunities for criminal offenses to be committed.

1. You are your own best protection.
  2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
  3. Walk in well lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entranceways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
  4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
  5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
  6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
  7. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well lit place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk the other direction. Record the license number.
  8. Park your car in a well lit area and lock the doors.
  9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Office of Public Safety, 543-6222.
  10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.
- For more information on personal safety, contact the Public Safety Office, which is located in the Administrative Services Building, 543-6222.

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

For fast relief from the nagging ache of taxes, we recommend TIAA-CREF SRAs. SRAs are tax-deferred annuities designed to help build additional assets—money that can help make the difference between living and living well after your working years are over.

Contributions to your SRAs are deducted from your salary on a pre-tax basis. That lowers your current taxable income, so you start saving on taxes right away. What's more, any earnings on your SRAs are also tax-deferred until you receive them as income. That can make a big difference in how painful your tax bill is every year.

As the nation's largest retirement system, we offer a wide range of allocation choices—from TIAA's traditional annuity, with its guarantees of principal and interest, to the seven diversified investment accounts of CREF's variable annuity. What's more, our expenses are very low,* which means more of your money goes toward improving your future financial health.

To find out more, call our planning specialists at 1 800 842-2888. We'll send you a complete SRA information kit, plus a free slide-calculator that shows you how much SRAs can lower your taxes. Call today—it couldn't hurt.

surveyed said they feel the same, indicating that they have one sex partner at a time and plan on being married by the age of 30.

And contrary to popular opinion, single people are having less sex than married individuals. Thirty-six percent of married men and 32 percent of married women reported they have sex two to three times a week, while 19 percent of single men and 15 percent of single women said they have sex that often.

Libby said that the plain vanilla nature of most American's sex lives are a result of today's changing society. "Because of work, which continues to take up more and more time, we really don't have enough time for sex," he said. "People come home, watch television and go to sleep. They don't have the time to have fun with one partner, much less three or four."

The survey indicated that over a lifetime, a typical man has six sexual partners, while a woman has two.

Three percent of men and women have had no sexual partners; 20 percent of the men and 31 percent of the women have had one; 21 percent of the men and 36 percent of the women have had 2-4 partners; 23 percent of the men and 20 percent of the women have had 5-10; 16 percent of the men and 6 percent of the women have had 11-20; and 17 percent of the men and 3 percent of the women have had 21 or more sexual partners.

Lacrosse Slaughters Opponents, 26-2

Elizabeth Pagel
Flyer Staff Writer

Salisbury Men's Lacrosse came out screaming this weekend, with a 26-2 win over the Hampden-Sydney Tigers. The weather was perfect as well as the play of the Division 3 National Champions. Jason Coffman scored the opening goal, and the Gulls never looked back. Coffman eventually tallied five goals and three assists, followed by Sean Radebaugh with six goals and five assists. Paul Smith had three goals and four assists.

Goalie Rich Betcher had his first shot at the famed Eric Miller's domain and managed 4 saves, supported by Stash Rote who claimed 3 saves.

SSU outshot Hampden-Sydney in every quarter and won 26 out of 32 face-offs. Coach Berkman feels the complete control SSU had over the game was a result of the face-off wins.

The first quarter was a Radebaugh and Coffman show, but Jake Burgee and Darin Gallagher each managed to maneuver the ball into the goal. Middle Joe Milano tossed one in behind the back for one of the six goals in the second period. The last goal before halftime was an unassisted shot from middle Brian Ward.

Coming back from halftime, attackman Paul Smith opened the scoring with a shot under heavy defense. Middle Burgee fired in another unassisted goal, Radebaugh had a three goal scoring run.

The last period had a little more variety, with shots from Eric Anderson, Andy Gordon and Mike Austin adding to the total. Attackman Todd Osadchey nailed two with seven minutes remaining.

Coach Berkman was pleased with the effort the team put out in their first home game.

"We dominated the whole game," said Berkman. "Overall, they played outstanding for this early in the season. The defense did well, the face-offs contributed to our win, and we had excellent wing play."

Men's Lacrosse faces Mary Washington for their next game at home in Seagull Stadium on March 4, game time is 1 pm.

Tennis Wins All Around

Jeff Brameyer
Flyer Staff Writer

The Salisbury State University women's tennis team opened their season with an impressive win over Washington College.

Coach John Browning picked up his first win as head coach of Salisbury and couldn't be more pleased by the effort of his team.

"We beat a very good team. We were definitely the underdog going into the match," commented Browning.

The lady gulls started off the match with two big wins at second and third doubles. The team of Jaclyn Schweigart and Kathy Castelli had an impressive 8-2 win while Lisa Barry and Sue Douglass battled back from a 5-1 deficit to win the match 8-5.

The team registered three wins in the third through sixth singles matches by transfer Courtney Harvey, Schweigart and Barry.

Harvey registered her first collegiate win playing for the Gulls since transferring from College Park this year.

Losing the first set 6-4, Harvey battled back to win the next two 6-2 and 6-1. "The whole match was a battle of will," commented Harvey. "It was hard because I'm from Chestertown

Gulls Ready to Play Ball

Mike Beardslee
Sports Editor

On Thursday, March 2, the Salisbury State men's baseball team will look to improve on last year's 16-18 record as they kick off the new season by traveling to take on Christopher Newport.

The squad returns just nine players out of 25, and Deane Deshon, entering his 32nd year as head coach of the team, will have to look to some fresh faces to fill the gaps.

"The new players are really the key to this team," said Deshon. "We've been fortunate to have had a good influx of players. We have the talent; the players just have to prove themselves."

The pitching corp in particular has received a much-needed boost. Junior Lee Stanley, sophomore Chris Yagesh (4.05 ERA in 20 innings) and sophomore Keith Zukowski all return to the staff, and will be joined by Brian Hollamon who makes the move from third base to the mound this year. Stanley led the squad with a 3.88 ERA while pitching for 41 innings and will probably see time in the starting rotation.

Sophomores Colin Faherty, Jeff Wilson and Mark

The American Cancer Society is now accepting applications for the 1995 Coors Light Triathlon, scheduled for Sunday, May 7 at Schumaker Pond Park in Salisbury. The event is part of the annual Salisbury Festival held each year on the Eastern Shore.

The triathlon, now in its sixth year, has become the primary one-day fundraiser for the American Cancer Society's Eastern Shore Office, with over $80,000 raised during its first five years. With 1995 sponsorship once again by Bill Wyatt and Wyatt Wholesale, Inc. helping to offset race expenses, the bulk of each participant's registration fee goes directly to the ACS. The entry fee is $45.

"This has become a very successful and popular race," said Jim Berkman, one of the three 1995 race directors. "Its been sold out the past several years, and we're encouraging interested participants to get their registration forms mailed as soon as possible."

Win Over Goucher, 69-56

Elizabeth Pagel
Flyer Staff Writer

The women's basketball team claimed a complete victory over the Gophers of Goucher College on Thursday, winning 69-56. The win over Goucher moved the team in the finals for title contention in the Capital Athletic Conference Championships.

Kristi Kauffman led the offense in scoring with 29 points, 12 of which came from her signature three point shot. Amy Fenzel was second in scoring with 16 points overall, as well as contributing defensively with 11 rebounds. Kim Roth knocked in eight points and snagged an equal number of boards.

Right from tip-off, the Lady Gulls were in control, with Fenzel scoring the first two points, and Kauffman sinking another basket for two before Goucher could get a mark.

Throughout the first half SSU was in the lead, and Goucher lagged too far behind. The Gulls dominated the game and thanks to point guard Nicole Urban's five steals, Goucher never saw the ball. SSU outscored Goucher 37-21 in the first half.

Moving into the second half, Goucher tried to form a comeback, but the Salisbury defense held them off. Guard Ava Tasker sank a three pointer, adding to the Gulls's lead, and Tessa Bond added her tow points from the charity line.

With less than ten minutes to play, Kristi Kauffman hit the court, injured by a Goucher player. She was out of the game for about three minutes, and returned with another three to remind the Gophers who was in charge. Urban smoothly sank a lay-up on a long inbounds pass from Roth, and a string of free throws followed for the Gulls as time ticked away on the game clock.

Gull Takes

The fifth-seeded Salisbury State men's basketball team was eliminated from the CAC tournament last Tuesday by fourth-seed Mary Washington. Marvin Felix tipped in his own rebound with two seconds left to play to give Mary Washington the 87-86 victory. Salisbury finishes at 12-13, their first losing season in six years. CAC rebounding and scoring champion Kyle Jefferson led the Gulls with 24 points in his final game, while John DeRichie poured in 17, including 5 trifectas. Chuck Harvey finished with 16 points.

Truskowski, all transfers, figure to provide depth to the bullpen. Only Faherty has collegiate pitching experience. Three true freshman will round out the pitching: Jeff Purgason, Brian McClellan and Ken Hess.

"These guys have the makings of a pretty decent staff," said Deshon. "We'll just have to see how mentally tough they are in competition."

Most of the remaining veterans are arrayed in the infield. Sophomore Bill Ewe will likely start at catcher, while Ed Stephan, who spent much of the last two seasons injured, moves from catcher down the line to first base.

Senior Matt Merritt (.227, 22 hits, 19 RBI's) returns as a solid second baseman, while Damon Garrison will fill the shortstop role. Garrison comes off an excellent sophomore season, finishing with a .344 average, a team-high 45 hits, and 20 RBI's. He also led the squad in extra-base hits with 13, and will provide a large portion of the Gull's offense this season.

The third base position is up in the air, but two freshman, Cable Miller and Dave Westervelt, will likely share the role.

The outfield will be all newcomers. Sophomore Ted Godfrey has won the centerfield spot with a steady preseason performance. Freshman Mike Amato will get the start in left field, while Matt Felice and Matt Criscimagna are still vying for the final slot in right field.

"As a group, the outfield is better than last year's," said Deshon. "I'm more confident right now about the pitching and defense rather than the hitting. We have the potential to be a hitting club, but if we have good pitching and defense it will take pressure off having to score."

Brian Hollamon will also play DH in addition to his pitching duties. Hollamon ended last year with a .291 average and 12 extra-base hits.

The team came within 3 outs of finishing the year at .500, and Deshon says that this year won't be any easier. "We have no easy games this year," he said. "Mary Washington and York are two of the stronger teams, and Trenton and Eastern Connecticut are always national contenders. But I'm really looking forward to the season and to seeing how well [the players] can do."

Coach Benshetler sees that there is no lack of motivation in any of her girls and feels they are ready for the rematch against Marymount in the CAC Championships.

"The kids are up to it," she said. "They played near perfect ball tonight, very smart ball. It was evident all around, with excellent offense and very few turnovers on defense, we are confident and prepared."

Nicole Urban, leading defensive player

"We were a little colder in the second half, but we got it together and jelled," said Nicole Urban. "We decided to pick it up and it all came together. We're ready to beat Marymount at home."

and a lot of them knew my game."

At fifth singles, Schweigart registered her second win of the day completely dominating her opponent in straight sets 6-2 and 6-2.

"I was really nervous when I started out because it was my first college match," commented Schweigart, a freshman. "I was really prepared for today. Coach really got us ready," added Schweigart, explaining her success.

Lisa Barry gave SSU another come from behind win. Losing the first set 6-2, Barry never gave up and won the final two sets 6-3 and 6-4, which clinched the victory for the Gulls.

"I'm usually down and force myself to come back. Once I got myself under control, it was easier to play because I got frustrated with myself."

Barry's match lasted almost three hours, and she attributed her ability to last through the match to the tough preseason training. "If we hadn't run as much as we did, it would have been a lot harder," she commented.

Capping off the last victory was Kim Gillis at third singles who won in straight sets 6-0 and 6-2. Gilis had a lot of respect for her opponent and felt her consistent play was the key to her victory.

April Quigley and Kathy Castelli lost to two nationally ranked players at first and second doubles but will surely put the loss behind them and move on.

With a big win so early in the season, coach Browning believes that the team must put it in perspective and move on to the next match. "We can celebrate now, but we have a long season ahead of us," said Browning.

The Lady Gulls opened up their '95 season with a big win, and more is expected from this talented squad in the future. Their next match is against Virginia Wesleyan on March 1.
